AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Everywoman," Extraordinary Production at Opera House Sept. 19.

Henry W. Savage believes in giving amusement-lovers who do not happen to reside in and around New York the same privilege of seeing worthy performances of his productions as the New Yorker himself. Therefore in sending on tour his immense production of "Everywoman" he has not cheapened the cast or cut out any of the trappings. The production as a whole, just as it was seen on Broadway, New York, for two years, will be offered at the opera house Tuesday, Sept. 19. The effort to tour a production the size of "Everywoman" is an extraordinary one. In the first place there are really three separate organizations merged into one. There is a large dramatic company of thirty-seven speaking characters. Then there is a grand opera contingent with soloists and chorus; beyond this there is a musical comedy company with principals and chorus. Added to all this there is a scenic production which requires two sixty-foot cars for its transportation from city to city; tons of mechanical electrical effects, and costumes which were especially manufactured in Paris for its production. Then to round out the whole, there is a symphony orchestra to render the score that was especially composed for "Everywoman" by George Whitefield Chadwick, dean of the New England Conservatory of Music, of Boston. It is claimed that the production of "Everywoman" represents a cash expenditure of upward of sixty thousand dollars and over a year's constant effort on the part of the several departments of the Savage producing offices in New York. Mr. Savage considers "Everywoman" his greatest triumph as a producer. In view of his splendid production of "Parsifal," "Madama Butterfly" and "The Merry Widow," the strength of this statement becomes apparent—adv.
